Wartburg's 'Castle' Still Building On Ten Years Of 'Tales' Tradition

By Grace Jahn

Ten years ago this month something new was added to Wartburg College. A literary magazine, called "Castle Tales," made its debut.

Writers, artists, musicians and photographers had a new medium which recognized their efforts.

Robert Gronlund, the first editor and now a pastor in La Puente, Calif., said in the first issue, " 'Castle Tales' gives the Wartburg student of today and former days an opportunity to share with others his personal experiences and creative efforts."

Mrs. Haefner Begins

Initiated through the efforts of Mrs. A. E. Haefner of the Wartburg English Department, who realized that an outlet was needed for student literary achievement, the first issues contained not only poetry and prose writings, but also illustrations, photographs and even music.

Until the 1958 issue, "The Castle" continued as "Castle Tales." The name was changed through the efforts of last year's editor, Larry Achorn, because the former title suggested a magazine of only prose fiction.

The original name was gleaned from the entries of two Wartburg students in a campus contest conducted during the organizational year. Ruth Engelbrecht submitted "Manor Tales" and Edgar Zelle offered "Castle Notes."

Published biannually until 1956, "Castle Tales" was offered for sale at 50 cents a copy. On its first day of publication, over four hundred copies were sold. In 1956 the cost of "Castle Tales" was first added to the student activity ticket.

Staff Members Write

Familiar names are recognized, names like Norm Fintel, Wartburg Public Relations director now on leave, as the by-line under a short story, or E. A. Hovdesven as composer of music to "The Lord's Prayer" in the 1952 Centennial edition, or Pres. C. H. Becker recounting an actual experience in that same issue.

Who has been responsible for "The Castle" from year to year? The student editors together with their staffs and advisers have planned it, editors who are now everything from pastors to housewives to free-lance writers to teachers to jet fliers.

Mayer Makes '59 Plans

This year's editor, junior Robert Mayer, has plans well under way for the 1959 "Castle."

"I think this year's 'Castle' will be a good one. We have good writing, but, unfortunately, not enough of it. I would think this is due to a lack of output rather than a lack of potential," commented the editor.

Dr. Neumann, this year's adviser, expressed somewhat the same opinion, but added that the contents of the magazine are going to be rather varied.

"We're a bit short of poetry, but we have some pretty good short stories," he remarked.

Yes, 10 years ago this month something new was added. In those 10 years that something grew and changed until it evolved as "The Castle" in its present form, still comparatively young, but infinitely well established.

Note: "The Castle" is looking for and will still accept poetry contributions until March 1. Poems can be submitted to Robert Mayer, editor, or Dr. G. J. Neumnann, adviser.

TALES SHOULD be told, and present Castle editor, Bob Mayer, carries on a tradition that is ten years old this month. Grace Jahn assists as associate editor.

Jose Will Appear

Spanish Dancing comes to the stage of Knights Gym on Thursday, Feb. 19, when Jose Greco and his company appear in an Artist Series presentation beginning at 8 p.m.

Despite a recent accident in Florida, in which a bus carrying Greco and his company crashed into a ditch in a heavy fog, the presentation here will be held as scheduled, according to Dr. A. W. Swensen, Artist Series Committee chairman.

Greco and four members of his company were temporarily hospitalized for treatment after the Florida mishap, but apparently no one was injured seriously enough to affect the company's scheduled appearances.

Tickets for the Greco performance may still be obtained from Dr. Swensen, or at the door the night of the concert.

No Paper

Next issue of the Trumpet will be Feb. 28. Four of the editorial staff and adviser, Mrs. Margaret Garland, will attend the Sixth Annual Newspaper Conference, MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill., on Friday and Saturday.

STUDENTS SAY,

Add Library Hrs.

By Linda Mugridge

"That the library be open longer Saturdays," is the only extension of library hours favored by a majority of Wartburg students, according to a survey conducted last week.

A questionnaire prepared by the Academic Life Committee and distributed during convocation recently showed that 58.5 per cent of the voting students thought Saturday hours should be extended. Action is pending on this move, according to Committee Chairman Dave Grube.

Favor 10 O'clock Nights?

If the library were open at 7 instead of at 7:30 a.m., 29 per cent of the students would use it at that time, according to the poll. A total of 32 per cent would use the library on Friday nights during which all-school activities were scheduled. Changing week night closing hour from 9:30 to 10 was favored by 47.5 per cent.

Daily assignments are done in the library by 30 per cent of the students, and the other 70 per cent work in the library when using its reference facilities. Most of those doing daily assignments there vacate the dormitories because of noise, according to comments reported by Grube.

Women consistently outvoted men in the favoring of hour extensions. The only category in which men wanted longer hours than women was the moving of closing time to 10 p.m.

Librarian Pleased

"It is evident that the library would be used longer on Saturdays, and this request will probably be granted after consideration," said Miss Perna Lohn, librarian. "I was pleased with the honesty and fairness of the students in their questionnaire answers."

Miscellaneous comments about the library included opinions that ranged from too much heat in the library through compliments on staff efficiency and the advantages of coeducational studying, according to Grube. Twelve students felt that the library should be open until midnight.

Honor Roll Lists 59 Students

Meyer

Aslaksen

Fifty-nine students, including seven four-pointers, earned a place on Wartburg's first-semester honor roll, according to Miss Mattie Harms, registrar.

Freshmen contributed 20 students, sophomores 14, juniors 10 and seniors 13 to the final honor roll tabulation. Two special students were also listed. A grade point of 3.5 or above is Wartburg's honor roll requirement.

Seven Post Perfect Marks

Receiving a perfect 4.0 were seniors Barbara Aslakson, Sharon Behrens, John Meyer and Dorothy Pippert. Sophomore Jan Lamine and special students Vincent Marino and Shirley Watermiller also earned all A's.

Lucky 13 Are Sophs

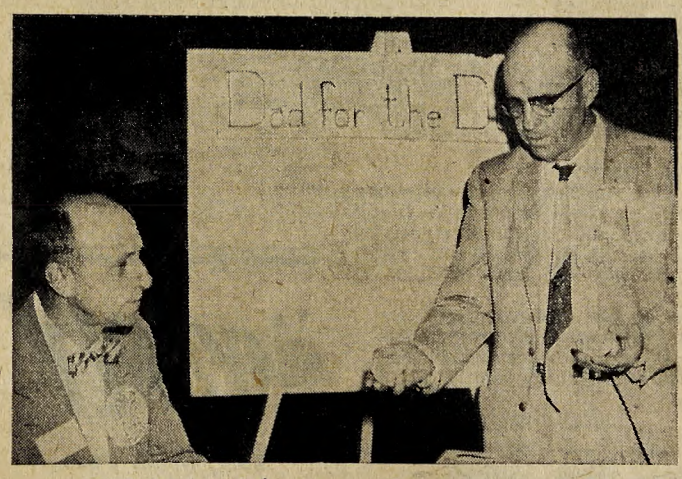
Juniors Darlene Arns, Delmar Christianson, Marianne Cook, James Eissinger, Dean Engbrecht, Ronald Freimark, Gloria Meyer, Ronald Stahlberg, Meredith Stuhmer and Patricia Waters were also named to the roll.

Seniors are represented by Barbara Bradle, Roger Buhr, Dennis Dickman, Herbert Hafermann, Herman Hein, Audrey Mueller, Fred Schuchmann and Donald Weidler. Mid-year graduate Leroy Buchholz also made the honor roll.

'Brothers' Become 'Dads'



NOT REALLY brothers, Morris Nissen (left) and A. C. Kingbury, both of Corwith, deviate from Brotherhood Institute activities yesterday to participate in the "Dad For The Day" project.

"Dads" befriended children from the local Lutheran Homes, treating them to part of a day's activities.

Flachman Will Sound The Trumpet While Jahn Builds Castle For 1959-60

Flachman

Jahn

Wilbur Flachman, junior, and Grace Jahn, sophomore, were named next year's editors of the Trumpet and Castle, respectively, by the Publications Committee at its meeting Tuesday.

A native of West Burlington, Flachman is presently the Trumpet's managing editor. He has worked on the paper three years, concentrating on sports. He also writes for the Fortress.

Flachman, who is a physical education major, intends to enter the field of journalism after graduation. After this semester he will have taken all the journalism courses offered here.

Flachman's brother Leonard served as editor of Wartburg's 1958 "All-American" Fortress.

Moving from the Castle associate editorship to the editorship itself is Miss Jahn, English major from Sheboygan, Wis. High school teaching is her vocational goal.

NCA Co-Ordinator Here Yesterday

Dean Milo A. Rediger, coordinator for the committee on liberal arts education of the North Central Association of colleges, visited the Wartburg campus yesterday. Dr. Rediger was here in conjunction with a two-year faculty hand book study being conducted by the Wartburg faculty.

Rediger, from Taylor University of Upland, Ind., was of assistance in this study to revise the faculty handbook here. He met and talked with administrative officers of the college, the librarian, concerned faculty committees, and a representative group of students.

Valentine — Schmalintine! We're Helpless To Resist

Saints preserve us! It's Valentine's Day.

Hearts are flying all around us on this 14th day of February, but not many people are ever curious enough to find out why.. From an early age onward, a child becomes aware only of the fact that on one day out of many holiday seasons, people write, shout, sing and do about anything to profess their love. Everyone, from the "tough little kid down the block" to sweet-toothed grandmothers, gets frisky about the subject of hearts and candy on this warm winter day.

Humble, deceased Saint Valentine, a third-century martyr for the Christian church, is tagged with the title, Patron Saint of Lovers, but it all started out like any other feast day. Somewhere, in medieval times, the influence of the pagan feast of Lupercalia and the feast day for old Valentine were tossed together and celebrated as one.

In warmer climates, today is synonymous with the time when the birds begin to mate. This might cause poor Valentine to blush somewhat, but it is one of the main reasons for this Gregorian tie-up.

There is one old custom which might be worth reviving for some college students. That is the one where all hopeful bachelors drew names of eligible maidens from the proverbial "hat," thereby letting chance decide which valentine they will attempt to court during the coming year. Supposedly, there is a winner every time.

Circumstances of history and that wily little character Cupid seem to have determined that Valentine's Day is going to be around for a long time — so, hang on to your hearts — it's still a day of love.

WHIRLED AFFAIRS

U.S. Defense Causes Offense

By Bob Mayer

"See you later, investigator" was the theme song for the U.S. Defense Department last week as Lyndon Johnson and his Preparedness Committee laid seige to the administration's military budget. There was good reason for grumbling.

Johnson couldn't have found a more disturbingly chaotic mess if he had tried. The fact was that the Eisenhower — McElroy team just didn't wish to allocate more funds for national defense because 40.9 billion dollars is easily sufficient, they felt, to maintain our national strength and security.

Mayer

Unfortunately facts and figures cited by McElroy just didn't add up to so satisfying an answer. In fact, the facts and figures didn't add up to much more than the realization that no one seemed to know just what national security meant, whether or not we now have it, or how to get it if we don't.

The missile gap, we were told, is due to arrive in the early 1960's, but is not crucial because our defense power will still rely on the bombs of the Strategic Air Command. Russia will then have three ICBM's to our one. Yet missile security is held to be our goal. Then what about missile progress? Shouldn't it be pushed with more speed? No, say Eisenhower-McElroy, our progress is satisfactory — that is, we are only behind the Soviet Union by two to five years in that field.

But most disturbing was the committee's mournful glimpse into the chaotic, jumbled mass of overlapping bureaus, agencies and officials — tangled in each other's hair. Upon examination, these officials were unable to even outline a clearly evident chain of command. Which official had the final decision? They couldn't decide, and if they couldn't, who could? From this state of affairs the United States was expected to present an adequate and sane outline for defense preparation.

To many, the crux and fundamental criteria of the Eisenhower administration has become "balance the budget at any cost." These observers fear that ultimate, long-range security is being gambled for the sake of a budget which does not really need to be balanced. But then, which would you rather be labeled, a "spender" or a "conservative"? Here again, there is controversy or at best the criteria of mere opinion.

It is not a question of pointing with accusing fingers at any one man or party as responsible for the mess in the Defense Department. But in the final analysis, the Eisenhower administration must stand responsible for the formation of a broad outlining of defense policies. If these policies fall short of our needs — fail to meet the Soviet challenge — the future of the United States, as well as of the whole "free world," might well be at stake. Think it over — then write your congressman.

Mission Talk

By Kriesel, Munter And Schroeder

December 1, 1958, was a great day in Finschhafen, the first center of the Lutheran Mission in New Guinea. On that day the T. B. Hospital, which is still under construction, was dedicated to the glory of God and to the service of mankind as an integral part of the medical mission in New Guinea.

At present, this hospital has accommodation and facilities for 100 patients, which are eventually to be increased to 500, but this work is expected to take another two years.

This project is being built by the mission with its own laborers (including the Foreign Mission Builders) and financed by the government. For offering to build the hospital, the mission has the privilege to operate it for 20 years after the date of opening.

It is staffed by the mission with plans for two doctors, six nurses, a lab technician and a caretaker. At present there are one supply doctor and two supply nurses, borrowed from other hospitals. This is an example of the great need which the mission has for staff members.

There is an old adage that goes, "If you can't beat them, join them." It is in keeping with this adage and the discovery that the graduated authors of this column spot, have had some good moments, that we reprint some of their better lines.

"Ron Retzloff, boy Fortress editor received an Oppie Card even before he registered." (Haver—Sept. 11, 1954)

"True or false? Wartburg students are not sheltered from life." (Haver—Feb. 6, 1955)

"Study in contrast: A freshman getting an Oppie Card; A senior getting an Oppie Card." (Loslo—Oct. 13, 1956)

"A vet merely referred to the days of his mid-semesters as D-day." (Loslo—Nov. 27, 1956)

"See, this column spot has been worth reading in the past and Vollmer House was actually worth writing about." (Claggett—Feb. 14, 1959)

FACULTY SHOW TONIGHT

Quote of the week: Larry Nelson quips, "Did you know that at Texas Lutheran, English is offered as a foreign language?"

Tonight is the night of the long awaited faculty talent show. I hope the faculty shows up, despite the fact that the show is scheduled in the same place where convo is held. Incidentally, where was EVERYONE during the Brotherhood convo?

FACULTY SHOW TONIGHT

It was a surprise to learn that the Wartburg basketball team is now being coached by Dr Baumgard. This is the title which Upper Iowa programs gave our beloved Ax. A quick glance at a Wartburg program would reveal that it is spelled in capital letters B-U-N-G-A-A-R-D. I must be way off base, I spell it B-U-N-D-G-A-A-R-D.

It's not too late to get that special Valentine gift for your sweetheart. Wayne Dreier still has a few nightshirts left at a reasonable price, and as an extra incentive, each nightshirt will be embroidered with an original poem by Cotta House poet laureate, Don Sahling.

FROM 'PLAY BALL' TO PLAY HALL,

College Theater Functions 40 Years

By Joan Pape

Beginning with 1919 through 1959 — this year marks 40 years of service for one of the oldest buildings on the Wartburg campus, the much-used, much-remembered Little Theater.

Although the Little Theater building is celebrating its 40th anniversary this year, it does not represent forty years of use as a theater. Originally intended as a gymnasium, the present Little Theater has seen other purposes.

According to business manager Herb Engelbrecht, the Little Theater was constructed as a gymnasium in 1919 for the approximate sum of ten thousand dollars.

"The building was really quite nice as compared to the other gymnasiums of the time," chuckled Engelbrecht. "Back in those days, although basketball was rising in prominence as a sport, tumbling received the greater emphasis.

"As could well be imagined, the playing floor was quite small for basketball," he continued. "At that time, however, the floor extended back to where the radio station now stands. The radio area was used as a stage, with dressing rooms on either side in what now serves as the station office and record library."

Parties Are Part Of It

Much as it is now, the building continued to accommodate a number of purposes through the years. In addition to its use as a gymnasium, it served as a meeting place for parties, carnivals, movies and some of the larger convocations.

Eventually, the one-time-gym grew too small for many of the larger events, and so the facilities of the Waverly High School were utilized for basketball games, plays and Artist Series programs.

Players Change Floors

Construction of Knights Gymnasium in 1949 brought plans for changing the old gym. According to an old Wartburg Trumpet, it was originally decided that the building would be converted into classrooms and an audio-visual room. But these plans were eventually altered and the Little Theater was born.

During the following summer, Raymond D. Wilderman, head of the Speech Department at that time, supervised student work on converting the old gymnasium into a new theater. Further improvements were later made under the direction of Charles Dickson, another former Speech Department head. A group of students interested on the construction of a theater contributed much of the labor for the rebuilding.

Little Theater play-goers then ran the gauntlet from "Ten Nights in a Barroom" to "Taming of the Shrew." In 1951 Kurt Weil's "Down in the Valley," first musical produced on the Wartburg stage, was performed.

In 1957 the Little Theater was the scene of a Midwest premier. "Waiting for Godot," a controversial tragicomedy by Samuel Beckett, was produced by the Wartburg Players under Dickson's direction.

Along with a new theater came a radio station for Wartburg. Radio station KNYT existed as an experimental station in 1949. Finally, on March 12, 1951, the present KWAR-FM gave its opening broadcast. Pi Beta Epsilon, a national honorary radio fraternity, was added shortly afterwards.

A 1952 Trumpet feature by Ted Heinecken on the infant radio station had this to say: "The news is strictly on the local level and is no longer recited from the Des Moines Register. Sports is more on the farcical level, as two Trumpet sportswriters handle the broadcasts."

At present, the old gymnasium serves in a number of capacities, in spite of its title of "Little Theater." Besides serving as a theater, a radio station, the meeting place for three theater organizations, Pi Beta Epsilon, Wartburg Players and Alphi Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatics fraternity for which a chapter was obtained in the spring of 1949, the Little Theater also is used for classes, chapel and a number of other meetings.

So much being said for the Little Theater's past, what about its future?

Theater May Go

Business manager Engelbrecht stated that definite plans had not been made as yet, but that it eventually might prove necessary to remove the building to make way for a better approach to the new chapel-auditorium.

However, he also stated, "The Little Theater has always been a very serviceable building for us, and it will probably continue to be for a while in the future."

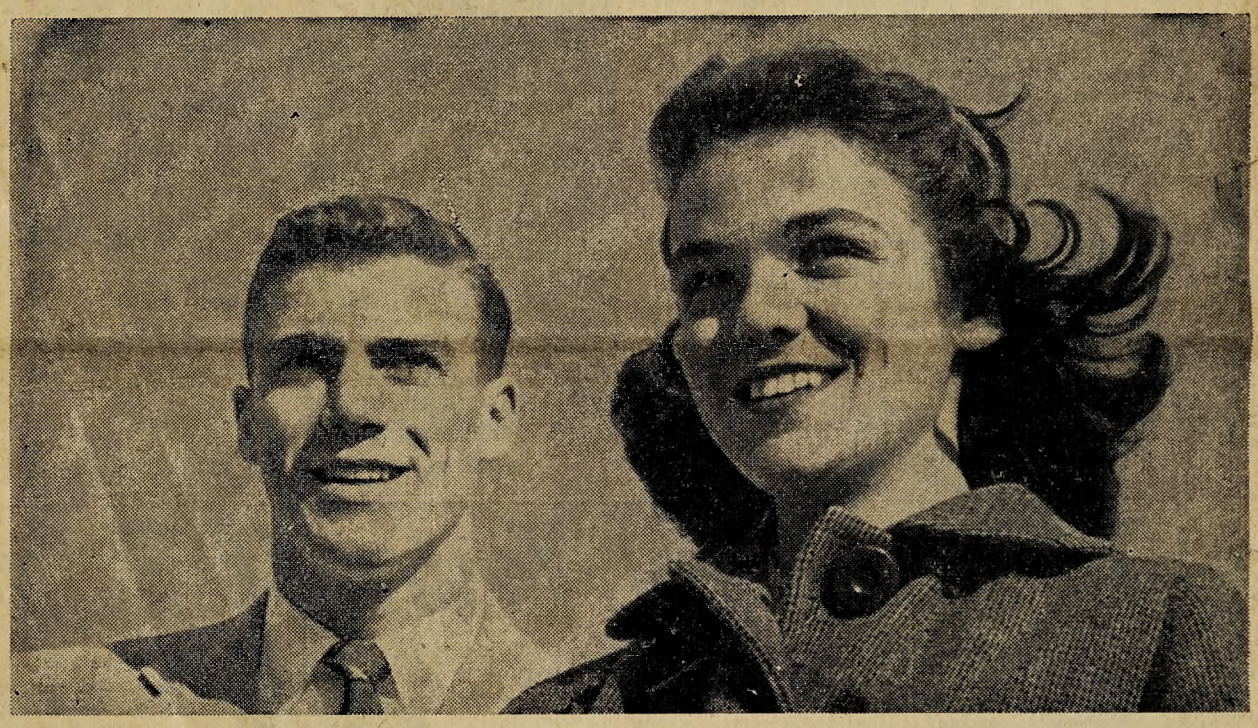
Iowa District Now Soliciting Camp Counselors

Summer Bible Camp counsellors are needed by the Iowa District, according to word received from the Rev. Richard Kamper, Rockwell City.

The ALC camp program is changing from a lecture-classroom situation to a counselor-counselee rationship, making it possible for college students to work in this area.

Prior to service this summer, counselors will be given guidance and training in the areas of Bible Camp life. Pay will be room and board, plus $25 per week. Camp sites involved for Wartburg applicants will be Riverside Camp near Story City and Lake Ingham near Wallingford.

Personal interviews for Wartburg applicants will be conducted on campus in a few weeks. Since only a limited number of counselors can be used by the district, interested Wartburg students are asked to write the Rev. Richard Kamper, Rockwell City, Iowa, as soon as possible.



Does a fellow really need life insurance before he is married?

We won't give you a flat answer, because we might be prejudiced. After all, we're in the life insurance business, and we think it is extremely important to see our fellow Lutherans adequately protected.

Ask your banker, your doctor, professor, or any adviser whom you trust. Chances are about 95 to 1 he will say yes. Any young man should have at least enough insurance to cover final expenses in event of death from sudden illness or accident.

Even more important is the fact that your premiums will never again be so low. You'll see what we mean when you look at these premium rates for our most popular policy, the Brotherhood Provider, in the amount of $10,000:

Age		20	25	30	35
Premium	Annual	$156.90	$180.20	$209.30	$245.80
	Monthly	14.12	16.20	18.80	22.10
For each dollar paid in you get back at 65*		1.87	1.67	1.50	1.32
Monthly income at age 65* (Male)		81.50	74.30	67.50	59.80

Note that the annual premium goes up 33% from age 20 to 30—and you get back about 20% less on every dollar.

One further point: when you marry, you'll have lots of other expenses. Get started now on your life insurance program. It makes sense from every angle. See your Lutheran Brotherhood representative, or write the home office.

Picking Up Splinters

By Wilbur Flachman

Approximately three years ago, Feb. 8, 1956, to be exact, Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Commissioner of the Big Ten Athletic Conference, unfolded a letter in his Chicago office that spelled headlines across the Midwest for Wartburg College.

The letter contained a stinging charge of "Big Ten professionalism" that hit directly home. Signed, Earnest F. Oppermann, Wartburg Dean of Students, the charge was not an implication by Wartburg College, but a personal plea by Oppermann to the commissioner to "clean up the conference."

The case centered around one Ray Gross, a 6' 6" student who apparently did not find himself well adjusted at the University of Wisconsin and decided to try his luck at a smaller institution, enrolling at Wartburg in the fall of 1955.

Oppermann, who was also doubling as basketball coach, had the lengthy lad working out with the cage squad. Conference rules, which state that a player must sit out a semester of competition after transfer, would not permit Gross to participate in game until the second term.

During this time Gross was actually contacted by Wisconsin U. personnel while he was on the Wartburg campus, but indicated to Oppermann and Dr. Becker that he was permanently situated here. Then boom! About the time he was eligible to take the hardcourts with the Knights, he packed up and returned to Madison and entered the Dairyland University on a "free ride" scholarship. "Professionalism," wrote Oppermann.

Immediately, under one of the Big Ten's questionable and wide-open policies, Gross was able to suit up with the Badgers. On the Monday after he left Wartburg, he scored four points against Iowa in a conference contest. In a sense, the rule implied that Gross was a resident of Wisconsin U. while he was attending Wartburg, according to Oppermann.

Not liking a knife in the back, Oppermann drew both guns and fired away at Wilson. It wasn't a shot in the dark, and the commissioner's prestige was penetrated by the well-aimed statements.

When newspapers carried Wilson's reply, they quoted him as saying that Oppermann's statements were "malicious." At any rate, Wilson stated that for the present time there was nothing he could do about the situation. That is exactly what he did — nothing, and feebly dropped the matter, settling back to lick the sores of a well-executed shot that inflicted at least a surface wound. Wisconsin coach Bud Foster breathed a sigh of relief, and the Gross continued as first-string center for the Badgers.

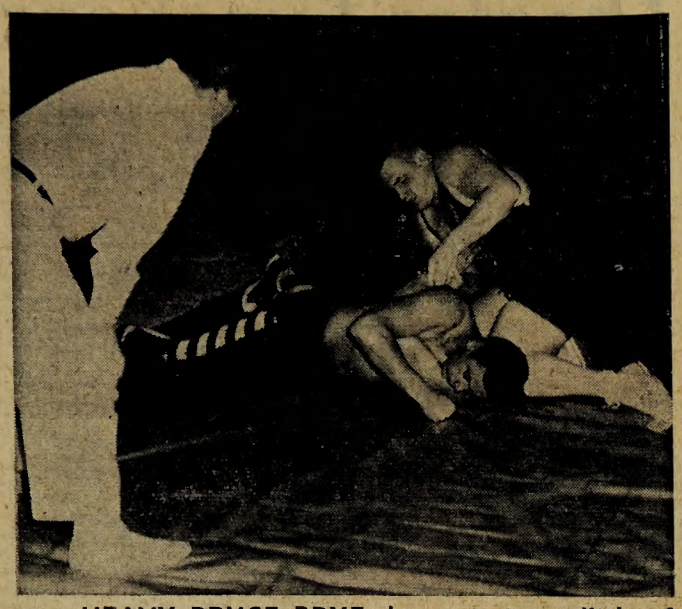
A couple of weeks ago the controversial cager finally received his diploma from Wisconsin after nine semesters in college (evidently he never attended Wartburg.) During his career with the Badgers, his record of performance bounced up and down like a pogo stick. On several occasions he counted close to twenty points a game then came up with a two-point showing the next outing.

Gross averaged 8.1 points per game his final semester of competition for his poorest showing. However, he did manage to lead the Badger rebounding the past two seasons.

During Gross' tenure, Wisconsin could never rise above the .500 mark during a single season, and was mired in the bottom of the Big Ten pile most of the time. The Badgers needed anything they could get.

Now that he has his degree, Wisconsin officials can write the last chapter to the Ray Gross incident. Big Ten rules have not changed in relation to any of the incidents involved in the charge, but it will probably be quite a spell before the Badgers will again tamper with a Wartburg athlete. That much at least was accomplished.

Grapplers Shoot For 7th In A Row Today



HEAVY BRUCE BRYE demonstrates a little of the form which spells defeat to opponents.

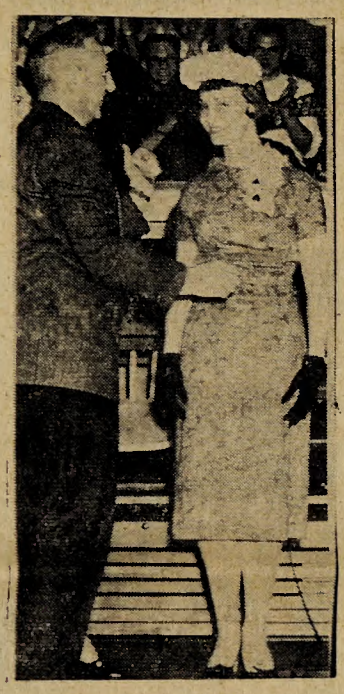
Knight matmen will be out for their seventh conquest in succession this afternoon traveling to Brookings, S. D., to take on South Dakota State.

Wartburg's Bruce Brye pinned his man in the heavyweight division last Saturday at Rock Island, Ill., to give the Jomen a 17-14 win over Augustana. Oberheu pinned his opponent in the 123 class, and John Sternberg won by forfeit for five more points. Alan Hassman rounded out Wartburg's scoring when he drew in the 177-weight division.

Today's starters will be Oberheu at 123, Sternberg at 130, Chellevold at 137 and Burman at 147. Dar Meyer will be in charge of the 157 weight division, Roger Hildebrandt at 167, while Hassman goes at 177. Brye will again be going in the heavyweight division.

Following today's meet, the grapplers will have two remaining. Feb. 21 they travel to Fayette, where they take on Upper Iowa, and then on Feb. 27, they will round out the season at Grinnell.

Chatfield, Winter Regent



Queen Ruth

Reigning over winter sports for the remainder of the season is Ruth Chatfield, freshman from Minneapolis, Minn.

Miss Chatfield was crowned in the Parsons win half-time ceremony last night by Dr. Elmer Hertel, a member of Wartburg's athletic committee. She was selected by W-Club members last week.

Attending the snow-season queen were Judy Kreft, sophomore from Lytton and Connie Stanley, a freshman from Rock Falls, Ill.

Ruth is the second coed to receive royal honors from the Wartburg Lettermen's club this year. Jane Holzem, Middleton, Wisc., was chosen in the fall. A third queen will be named by W-Clubbers in May.

WAA Cagers Play At Luther Today

Wartburg will be sending eleven girls from the Women's Athletic Association to Decorah today to participate in the Luther College Basketball Sports Day.

WAA is also planning a basketball tournament which will be held several Tuesday nights in March. According to Miss Langrock there will be two classes of teams.

In the Experienced Class will be those girls who have had interscholastic competition in high school. The second class will be called the Novice Class.

Do You Think for Yourself? (THESE QUESTIONS CAN TELL YOU A LOT ABOUT YOURSELF!*)

1. When you feel that certain fads are foolish do you talk against them? YES ☐ NO ☐

2. Do gadgets such as new cigarette lighters often intrigue you so you want to take them apart? YES ☐ NO ☐

3. Do you think that political candidates should write their own speeches instead of using a "ghost writer"? YES ☐ NO ☐

4. Given the choice, would you prefer having an apartment of your own to living at home with your parents? YES ☐ NO ☐

5. Do you prefer a salesman who is anxious to make a quick sale to one who will patiently answer all your questions about the product? YES ☐ NO ☐

6. When arriving late for a party, are you inclined to join a group of close friends rather than attempting to strike up new acquaintances? YES ☐ NO ☐

7. If you met somebody with a beard, would you tend to consider him "off-beat" and treat him with reserve? YES ☐ NO ☐

8. Are you normally reluctant to go on a "blind date"? YES ☐ NO ☐

9. Do you base your choice of a cigarette on what people tell you rather than doing your own thinking? YES ☐ NO ☐

You'll notice that men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reason? They've made a thinking choice. They know what they want in a filter cigarette. They know that VICEROY gives it to them! A thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste!

If you have answered "YES" to three out of the first four questions and "NO" to four out of the last five . . . you really think for yourself!*

Axmen Move To 11-2...Set Eyes On Title Tuesday

By Wilbur Flachman

Friday the 13th didn't prove to be unlucky for Wartburg cagers as they grabbed a first-half lead and held on to put down stubborn Parsons 74-64 in Knights Gym last night.

Several hundred Brotherhood Institute registrants disregarded icy roads to remain and watch Coach Ax Bundgaard's hoopsters strengthen their grip on first place in the Iowa Conference title chase. Wartburg is now 11-2, Parsons 4-7.

A three-minute dry spell by both teams got the game underway slowly. Both clubs aimed several easy shots after the opening tipoff, but nary a one found the mark. Even reliable Knight forward Gil Wessel, who had counted 37 of 38 free throws in loop play this year, couldn't knock the lid off when he stepped to the charity line.

Harper Starts Scoring

Frank Harper, Wildcat guard finally launched the scoring with a gift toss. He added another and a fielder for good measure, before Denny Wessel tallied for the Axmen. Parsons spurted quickly to a 10-4 margin, but surrendered it when Dave Jensen found the range and sent the Knights on top 12-10.

Jumping John Tuecke, 6' 6" pride of Garnavillo, rocketed the black and orange into 40-28 advantage as the two squads moved to the locker rooms at mid-game. Tuecke had 15 marks after his name when he departed for the breather.

Last Half Even

Coach O. B. Nelson's wildcats retreated from half-time recharged and drew to within four buckets of the Wartburg lead. Jensen jerked the Knights to a safe lead again before the obstinate Parsonians gnawed the count down to 56-44 with 9:06 left in the game. Harper put on a one-man exhibition, scoring 12 times in the waning minutes, but his mates were departing via the foul route, and the Axmen counted on the free throws to put the victory on ice.

Tuecke's 23 spearheaded the drive, while Jensen spurred the attack with 15 counters. Harper totaled 18 for the best effort of a Wildcat.

"IT'S OURS," Knight pivot man John Tuecke (44) seems to say as Parson's big man, Verne Hallings (53) reaches in vain. Tuecke was high for the home win with 23.

Wartburg's drive for the Iowa Conference championship will meet its greatest obstacle Tuesday night at Decorah when the Knights take the court against the Luther Norsemen.

A traditional rival of Wartburg, the Norse are the most improved team in the conference this season. After a seventh place finish last year, the Norse currently are riding No. 2 in the loop, despite the fact that they lost three starters via the diploma route in the spring.

Providing the big spark for Coach Hamlet Peterson's quintet this season is Clay Lyon, a southpaw sharpshooter. Lyon was recently selected as one of three Iowa College cagers to enter the NAIA All-American race. Rog Edgar, senior forward and Armon Pipho, junior guard are Lyon's biggest aides.

The Knights, standing on top of the Iowa loop with a 11-2 mark, have games remaining with Buena Vista and Iowa Wesleyan in addition to the Norse contest. Luther must face Parsons tonight, Wartburg Tuesday, Simpson and Central in a weekend road trip and Dubuque and Wesleyan at home.

Wartburg escaped with 79-71 decision earlier here, when guard Denny Wessels erupted with 12 points in the last two minutes of play.

Cotta Jars Vollmer 75-64 For Off-Campus Crown

By Don Bathgate

Cotta House defeated Vollmer House 75-64 in intramural competition Thursday night to win the IM Off-Campus Basketball race and stay undefeated this year.

This is the second year that Cotta House has gone undefeated in IM basketball play. Dar Fritz was high point man for the Raiders as he collected 21 in Thursday night's game.

Clinton II Tightens Lead

In other competition, Clinton II downed Grossmann HA 48-29 to stay in first place in the Campus League. North Hall also stayed in the running as it edged past Grossmann I&B 42-37. The only other game Thursday night found Off-Campus I walking all over Cheboygan by a 72 to 44 count.

The games that were missed because of the Upper Iowa game and the Communion Service will be made up on the next two Monday nights. The championship tournament, which will be played the first week in March, will include the two top teams from each league. Current scoring leaders are Darrol Bauer of the Off-Campus League and LeRoy Boseneiler of the Campus League.

All-Star Affair Scheduled

An all-star IM basketball game will be played with Luther Thursday, Feb. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in Knights Gym. The all-stars will be out to avenge a loss to Luther in intramural competition two years ago.

The all-star team is in the process of being selected by the teams in the IM League. Final vote will be taken this week when 12 players will be selected.

Grapplers Tangle Feb. 23

According to Dave Jensen, intramural chairman, IM wrestling will start Feb. 23. All persons planning to enter should sign up in their respective dorms and the off-eampus boys should sign up in Luther Hall or the Student Union.

Weight classes will be divided into eight groups. These groups are ranged as follows: Below 130, 130-137, 138-145, 146-153, 154-163, 164-173, 174-183 and Fat Men.

Defending champions from last year will be Wayne Gapp in the 138-pound class and Dave Jensen in the 163-pound class.

TALENT SHOW SLATED

Female campus talent is warned that talent scouts are on the lookout for the annual Pi Sigma talent show, which will be held the second week in April.

The variety show is to be sponsored by Pi Sigma but is open to all girls on campus who wish to participate, says publicity chairman, Joanne Schmidt.

Tryouts will begin on Thursday, Feb. 26. More information as to time, place and theme will be given in the convo bulletin and posters next week.

CONVO HAS HERTEL

Dr. Elmer Hertel, Biology department and president of the Iowa Academy of Science, will speak at convo Tuesday, Feb. 17, on the topic "The Significance of Charles Darwin."

A panel composed of Dr. Clifford Hanson, Philosophy Department; Dr. Elmer Hertel, Biology Department; the Rev. Karl Schmidt, Christianity Department; Dr. Charles Swensen, Chemistry Department; and moderator, the Rev. Edwin Schick, will discuss "Evolution and Its Effects on Us Today" during Thursday's convo.

Students To Pick From Nine Tues.

Primary balloting on Wartburg's Student Body Project will take place in Tuesday's convocation, according to Student Body Pres. Jim Schwarz. Final vote will be taken at convocation Feb. 24.

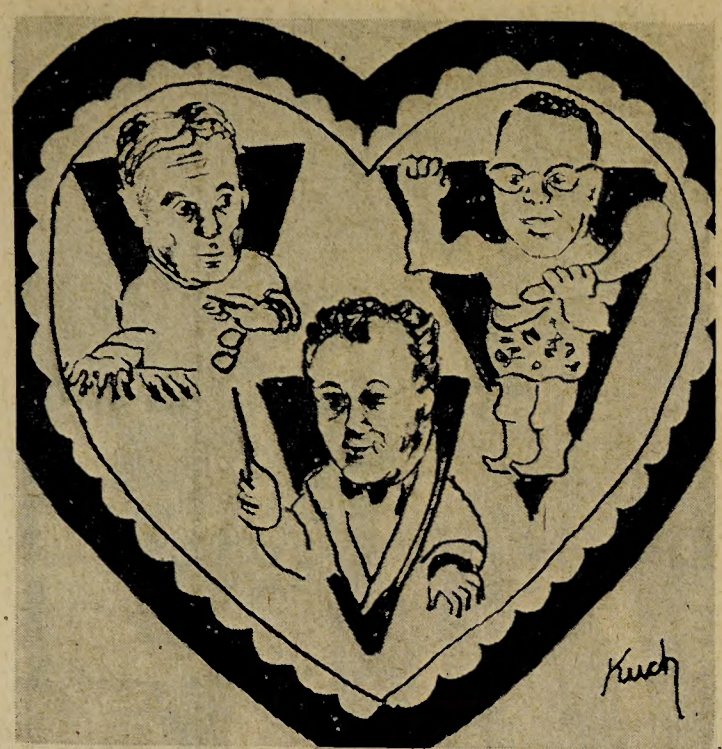
Suggested projects are campus landscaping, something for the new library, Trumpet folding machine, outdoor bulletin board, campanile, hymnals, front curtain for the proposed chapel-auditorium, backdrop curtain for the same building and altar-pulpit-lectern combination.

Steinberg Speaks To ACS Monday

Ellis P. Steinberg, nationally known nuclear physicist, will be the speaker at a joint meeting of the American Chemical Society and the Science Club on Monday, Feb. 16. Time is 7:30 p.m., in Centennial Hall Lounge.

Members of the student body and faculty are invited to be guests of ACS and the Science Club for this special presentation, according to Dr. A. W. Swensen, adviser. The speaker's subject will be "The Fission Process," a topic on which he is a recognized authority.

'Don't Miss The Fun'



There's somethin' really jumpin' at Knights Gym tonight, according to latest faculty reports. Admission is free. See "Toodles" Garland, "Cave Man" Kay and all the rest at 7:30.

Debaters Resolve At Central Today

Wartburg's debate team engages Central at Pella this afternoon, according to Robert Smith, speech coach.

Debate problem this year, "Resolved, That the further development of nuclear weapons should be prohibited by international agreement," will be defended by Jim Essinger, Dean Engbrecht, Dean Phillips and Dave Shetter. Al Putz, Jackie Knoble, Meta Fokkena and Deanna Stob will take the negative view.
